Award winning. Proven success.

A SAFE PAIR OF HANDS

A recognised and experienced journalist and media presenter, Ian has built a reputation for professional delivery and memorable occasions. He brings the preparation, judgement and energy to help your event exceed expectations - and ensure people talk about it for all the right reasons.

Organisers gain a safe pair of hands: timely authority, a touch of irreverence and expertly researched information. Ian sets the right tone, guides stakeholders with confidence and brings energy to the room while keeping the purpose of the occasion in focus.

TRUSTED. DEPENDABLE. RESPECTED!

Across a long career, Ian has been repeatedly trusted by business leaders, global and national event organisers, Federal, State and Local government officials, as well as high-profile stakeholders and celebrities. His experience helps conferences and seminars feel entertaining, purposeful and professionally managed.

From panels and audience Q&A; to guest speakers and program transitions, Ian collaborates with organisers to keep the event on time, aligned with the brief and within the agreed scope. The aim is simple: remove the worry. Ian ensures the event runs smoothly.

COMMUNICATION EXPERTISE THAT ADDS VALUE

Founder and Managing Director of Cozalive Media, established in 1995, Ian brings expertise across media strategy, public relations, presentation training and video production. This work informs Ian's understanding of stakeholder relationships, sensitive messages and brand reputation.

His keynotes explore media skills, public speaking and presentation, offering practical advice and industry insights. For clients seeking broader support, Cozalive can also assist with scripting, event production, filming and post-event content.
